“DO IT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME!”

WRITTEN BY KATHY SMITH

That is the motto of Domani Homes, Inc., in Cherry Creek. What is unique about this homebuilder? It is female owned and operated. Chris Regis is the creative woman, talent and owner behind Domani Homes, Inc. Regis is determined to reach the pinnacle of success in the male-dominated industry and I'm convinced she will with her philosophy and dedication.

Domani Homes believes in superior customer service, exceptional quality and environmental integrity. Regis has worked over 14 years in a wide variety of areas within the industry from superintendent to Vice President of project management for a high-volume homebuilder. At one time she was managing five large housing developments and 30 employees. Her motto “do it right the first time” is a product of her keen observation of the building process on many levels.

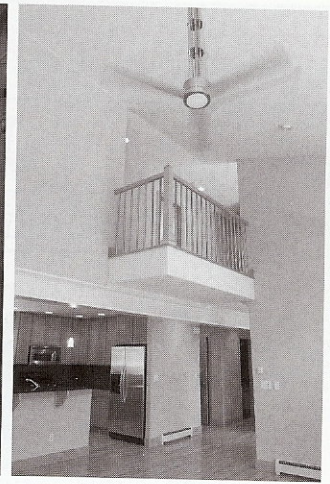

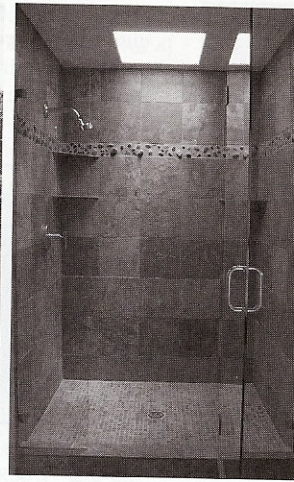

I knew within the first ten minutes of the interview that this woman is passionate about her work. Regis is dedicated to her customers and has a sincere desire to develop excellent working relationships. With a keen eye for detail and space utilization, she hopes to always improve upon the customer's expectations. Regis states, “I want my customers to know that throughout the construction process, I am paying attention to details that are potential warranty issues. Because of my work history, I observed the potential warranty issues and the inconvenience to customers. Working closely with the customer and the contractors allows me to pay attention to minute details, which ultimately satisfies everyone and saves time.”

Regis wants the homebuilding/remodeling process to be a professional, perfectly orchestrated and enjoyable experience from start to finish. Whether it is new construction or a remodel, she promises to deliver the quality expected. I know from the testimonials I read that her customers are enormously satisfied. Kevin and Caren Lewis wrote, “Watching you orchestrate the various subcontractors certainly made it obvious that a good general contractor can save a lot of time, money and headaches, and you are certainly one of the best.” Regis has built her business to provide the ultimate customer service.

OF HER EXPERTISE:

New construction:

Whether you are constructing a new home or scraping a house and starting from scratch, Domani Homes is ready to build a custom home according to your needs and specifications.

Remodeling:

Whether taking a turn of the century master bedroom and bath to a traditional design or a 1970's bi-level home to a contemporary look, Domani Homes does it all while maintaining the character of the home and the personality of the customers.

Domani Homes employs only the most foremost, expert contractors in each field. Regis asserts, "It is imperative that I work closely with each of my sub-contractors and maintain excellent professional and working relationships with them." Domani Homes utilizes superb craftsmen, materials and resources for each project. In respect for the environment, the company emphasizes energy efficient construction and exceeds the expectations of the Built Green standards of construction. Built Green homes cut energy costs, reduce pollution and protect the earth's resources by using engineered wood and other products.

I know this, if I am going to remodel or build a new home, I want Chris Regis working with me. Not only is she knowledgeable and particular, she is extremely nice and friendly to work with. From Cherry Hills to Park Hill, Domani Homes is setting the standard for perfection home construction.
